Stebor Colts beat the Stoctons, 8 to 7, in a tight game. Herman for the Colts outpitched Biggie, and Reiley caught a swell game.

Reis, second baseman of the Chicago Greys, broke his right leg in two places sliding to base in a game against Belvidere. Belvidere won, 4 to 3.

Joseph Carbone, 18, 116 Tilden av., died yesterday at the West Side Hospital from injuries he claimed he received in a boxing bout at William O'Connell's gymnasium, 500 S. State street. Carbone told his father he had been boxing with Jerry Sullivan and the latter hit him in the solar plexus. O'Connell said the youth was not sparring, but had been running around the track and punching the bag. Clark street police are investigating.

WILL STICK TO MILITANCY UNTIL VOTE IS WON

London, May 26.—Informed of the London newspaper reports that the women's social and political union is about to abandon militancy, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, militant leader, today telegraphed the following reply:

"The report is absolutely untrue. Militancy will continue until the vote is won."

Twenty thousand persons, mostly women and children, marched to Victoria Park yesterday to take part in a demonstration for votes for working women. Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, recently recovered from course of forcible feeding in Holloway jail, attempted to address the crowd, but was stoned and hit with clods.

Finally the crowd seized the wagon and started toward the entrance with it. Mounted police had to charge the mob before the women were removed to places of safety.

HE GOT IT ALL RIGHT

She—Do you believe in theory of spreading disease by kissing?

He—Well, they say there's something in it.

She—Did you ever catch anything by kissing a girl?

He—Yes, once. Her father caught me at it.
